

MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE CHARGED

Charles Prithcard, Indicted by Grand Jury, is Arrested This Afternoon While at Work.

HELD FOR DEATH OF HIS WIFE

Body of Mrs. Prithcard Found at Their Home January 10, 1918— Investigation by Coroner.

Charles Prithcard, of this city, a laborer, is facing a charge of murder in the first degree in connection with the death of his wife, Mrs. Mollie Prithcard, whose body was found in bed at their home on the morning of January 10, 1918. Prithcard was arrested this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Eastin and Charles H. Wallace, local policeman, while engaged in work on High street. He was lodged in the city jail and will be taken to Brownstown.

The arrest of Prithcard was made upon a circuit court bench warrant which was issued following an indictment returned by the Jackson county grand jury. The arrest caused much surprise in this city.

After the death of Mrs. Prithcard, the husband was questioned closely at the inquest which was conducted by William Dickmeyer, who was then serving as coroner. The case was complicated, it was stated, by testimony which was given at the inquest but after examining a number of witnesses, the coroner returned a verdict that the woman's death was due to "excessive alcoholism."

At the inquest Prithcard testified that he and his wife had formed the drink habit and that she was under the influence of liquor on the day before her body was found. He denied, however, that he gave her any of the liquor. Prithcard further testified that their sixteen years of married life had not been without quarrels. He told the coroner that on the morning that his wife's body was found, he arose about 4:30 o'clock, stirred up the fire and went to Niehter's saloon, where he was employed as a porter. When he returned home about 6:15 o'clock, he testified at the inquest, he noticed that his wife was not up and he went to the side of the bed and spoke to her. He said he noticed that her body was cold and that he piled the bed clothing over her and went to the house of a neighbor and told them that his wife was dead or was dying. The neighbor suggested that another neighbor be called and Prithcard notified that party also, he said.

Prithcard testified at the inquest that considerable medicine had been prescribed for his wife. She had never threatened to take her own life, he said. He stated that she had not taken any whiskey to his knowledge the night before, although he "supposed" that she had drunk a little beer as was her custom.

Other witnesses at the inquest testified that considerable noise was heard in the Prithcard home on the night before his wife's body was found and they thought that Prithcard and his wife had been fighting. One witness said that she heard Mrs. Prithcard cry for help at one time and suggested that her husband go over and see what the trouble was about. He did not do so, however, as it was quite common for the Prithcards to quarrel, the witness said. It is also stated that during the alleged fight Prithcard is said to have threatened his wife's life. The Prithcard home became quiet about 10 o'clock p. m., the coroner was informed.

Prithcard has never been in trouble before and works at such employment as he could find.

After the arrest Prithcard denied that he was in any way connected with the death of his wife. Prithcard's friends declare that they are positive that he is not guilty and that he will be able to prove his innocence at the proper time. He did not seem to be alarmed over his arrest and his friends declare that his lack of worry is due to his knowledge that he is innocent. S. A. Barnes was engaged to represent Prithcard.

GRAND JURY FILES 21 INDICTMENTS

Return of "True Bills" Made to Court Following Examination of More Than 150 Witnesses.

TWO BENCH WARRANTS ISSUED

Character of Indictments Will Not Become Public Until After The Arrests Are Made.

Twenty-one "true bills" were returned by the Jackson county grand jury late Wednesday afternoon following a ten-day inquisitorial session which began when the body was impaneled February 24. The character of the indictments will not become public until after the arrests are made. Only two bench warrants were issued by Judge James A. Cox but others will be asked from time to time during the term. Arrests upon the indictments which are not made during the present term of court will be effected during vacation on regular warrants.

More than 150 witnesses were examined by the grand jury, and it is generally understood that the scope of its investigations was broader than that of any similar body that has been called in this county in recent years. The grand jury was not in session today, but will reconvene Friday. It is likely that its work will be completed and its final report filed before the close of the week.

The grand jury inspected the county poor farm and jail last Friday and will file its report as to the condition of these institutions before final adjournment. Each year the body is charged with the duty of making an inspection of the county institutions and reporting to the judge of the circuit court. Recommendations for the improvements of such institutions may be included in the report. G. C. Borchering was selected as foreman of the grand jury. The other members were: John F. Sweetland, John L. Bowers, Nelson M. Carlson, L. C. Huffington and H. Fred Christopher.

Circuit court was not in session.

YOUTH IS INDICTED FOR RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS

Warren Cross Rearrested on Grand Jury Indictment in Connection With The Hub Robbery.

Warren Cross, of this city, who was recently charged by affidavit with burglary in connection with the robbery at the Hub clothing store, was rearrested this afternoon on a grand jury indictment charging him with receiving stolen property. He was placed under $500 bond for his appearance in circuit court Friday morning at 9 o'clock. He was previously under bond for the same amount on the burglary charge.

Cross, it is alleged, received part of the stolen articles from the local store and furnished money for Bryant and Jones, also arrested in connection with the burglary, to go to Indianapolis to dispose of the property. Part of the stolen goods were found at Cross' home and he returned them to the Hub clothing store. He had given away some of the articles, he said. Bryant and Jones are held in the county jail. Jones had pleaded guilty and is awaiting sentence in circuit court. Bryant and Jones recently escaped from the county jail and were rearrested here.

Chester Riley, recently discharged from military service, left for Indianapolis this afternoon where he will meet his brother, George Riley, who has just arrived in that city from New London, Conn. During the shock of the collision Riley's back was broken and since that time he has been in the naval hospital at New England.

It is expected that the president of each chapter and one delegate for each ten members of the League in this county will attend the district meeting. All members of the league and others who are interested in the organization are invited to attend the meeting. Aside from the transaction of the regular business and the election of the delegates to the district convention an address on "Civil Government" will be given by Miss Reeves, of the Brownstown High School.

SOME MEMBERS OF CONGRESS HAVE HOPE OF EARLY SESSION

Say That Necessity of Money for Railroad Operation Becomes Imperative.

Washington, March 6—There is a lurking hope among some members of congress still in Washington that the extra session may yet be called before the president's return, they said today.

Those who expressed this hope based it on what they called the frantic state of mind of railroad men, left in the lurch by the senate's failure to provide the $750,000,000 badly needed by the railroad administration. They said the strongest pressure will be brought to bear upon the president from this source to get congress back at work.

The president, however, is counting on returning to the United States with the peace treaty sooner than he had expected and it is believed unlikely by democratic leaders here that he will call an extra session before May.

"SENATE 37" OPENS SPEAKING DRIVE

Senator Borah Inaugurates Campaign with An Address Tonight in New York.

SETS FORTH HIS POSITION

Objectors to Wilson Constitution Think His Plan Can Be Used as a Frame Work.

By United Press.

Washington, March 6.—The nation-wide campaign of the "senate 37" against the league of nations constitution begins tonight in New York. Senator Borah, leader of the opposition, will speak before the society of arts and sciences there. On Saturday he will speak in Boston. Borah's speeches are the first of a series to be made in practically every state, in opposition to the provisions of the league constitution as drafted at Paris.

Every senator who joins in the campaign with the possible exception of Borah, plans to make it plain to his audiences that it is not a league of nations he is opposed to, but this league as outlined in the tentative constitution.

Borah is opposed to any league on the ground that it is America's business to stay out of permanent alliances with foreign nations. Other senators who signed the "round robin" presented to the senate by

MILITARY AND NAVAL TERMS ABOUT COMPLETED

Provisions of Preliminary Peace Nearly Ready to Submit to Supreme War Council.

By United Press.

Paris, March 6.—Military and naval terms of the preliminary peace with Germany were expected to be practically completed at today's session of the supreme war council.

It was believed in certain official quarters that they would be given definite outline, preparatory to their ratification by President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George and Premier Orlando.

Lloyd George, lunching with Col. House today, was to be apprised of the work accomplished during his absence in London, after which he was to join the other conference at the Quai D'Orsay.

The question of readjusting Germany's frontiers was expected to be taken up tomorrow.

Food relief for central Europe occupied the bulk of the council's discussions yesterday. It was also brought out that lack of adequate transportation is seriously interfering with distribution of food supplies in Roumania and the Czechoslovak republic.

ATTEMPT TO REVIVE REVOLUTION FAILS

Efforts of Spartacans to Create New Disorders in Berlin Appear to be Futile.

RAIDS AGAINST THE POLICE

German Government Apparently Has The Critical Situation Well in Hand.

By United Press.

Berlin, March 6—Despite attempts of the Spartacans to revive their new Revolution the government appeared to have the situation well in hand last night. The sections of the city where the revolutions centered have been isolated by barbed entanglements. Another raid was organized against police headquarters, but was repulsed.

Plundering continued in some parts of the city. Casualties have been extremely light, one report being that not more than a dozen persons have been killed. Many workers refused to join the general strike which was to have been the signal for a nation wide revolution. The government so far has not been seriously endangered. All governmental work was to be directed from Weimar until order was completely restored in Berlin.

Unconfirmed reports were received that a number of heavily armed bands were advancing in Weimar for the purpose of looting the town.

Employers of many factories refused to join the general strike which was to have been the signal for a nation-wide revolution. The telephone system was working as usual tonight and railway service had not been seriously impaired. The bourgeoisie were threatening to start a counter-strike in sympathy with the government. The general opinion seemed to be that the radicals were over-confident and that they "went off half cocked." Some of their leaders, including Hugo Hease, already were disclaiming connection with the strike.

The government so far had not been seriously endangered. The cabinet was planning to hurry socialization of certain industries—although its program was far short of that demanded by the radicals.

SAYS DELAYED ACTION GAVE CONTROL TO BOLSHEVIKI

Raymond Robins Tells How Red Cross Mission Tried to Prevent The Movement.

By United Press.

Washington, March 6—Failure of the United States to reply promptly to appeals from the American Red Cross mission in Russia for help in fighting the Bolsheviks gave the Bolshevik control, Raymond Robins told the senate Bolshevik investigating committee today. Robins was a member of the Red Cross mission in Russia. He said that Col. William Thompson, commander of the commission, cabled the United States through the Red Cross asking for $1,000,000 immediately and $1,000,000 a month for three months to be used in anti-German and anti-Bolshevik propaganda.

"We waited for a long time for a reply," said Robins, "and when it came it stated that a representative of the committee on public information would be sent to Russia. When this man got there the Bolsheviks had been in control for two weeks."

Robins said that charges that Col. Thompson had attempted to aid the Bolshevik movement was untrue. He said Thompson sent a million dollars of his own money to fight the Bolsheviks and never spent a dollar to assist them.

STORMY SESSION IN UPPER HOUSE

Senator Elsner Appeals From Ruling of Chair on Motion to Limit Length of Speeches.

Lieutenant Governor Bush Faction Says "Steam Roller" Methods Are Attempted.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, March 6—Facing the possibility that a special session of the legislature may have to be called to pass the few necessary appropriations bills, senate leaders today used every possible effort to speed up action. Their efforts met protests from the Democratic side and the Republican faction led by Lieutenant Governor Bush, that "steam roller" methods were being used. The fight resulting was the bitterest on the senate floor in years.

When the senate opened the tax bill was before the senate as a committee of the whole and prospects were that consideration of it would not be completed before adjournment time Monday night unless stringent methods were adopted.

Senator Beardsley introduced a motion to limit all speeches to three minutes and that no senator could yield his time to another. Beside the tax bill, he said, the senate had to consider the two appropriations bill, the conservation, banking department, workmen's compensation and child labor measures, if a special session is to be avoided. Out of nearly 1,000 bills introduced in both houses only forty have been made laws so far.

Senator McKinley in seconding Beardsley's motion declared that the rule is necessary to prevent a filibuster which was evidently being conducted by opponents of the tax bill headed by Lieutenant Governor Bush. Senator Elsner and other senators opposed to the measure, tried to speak on the motion, but Senator Negley, who was in the chair, refused to recognize them.

Senator Elsner declared: "I didn't know we had a kaiser in Indiana."

He appealed from the chair and demanded a roll call vote. Negley refused to call the roll and asked for the ayes and noes. After the vote he declared that the chair had been upheld, although the democrats and some republicans declared it had not.

Senator Smith, republican, protested against such "German rules." Negley called for a vote on the Beardsley motion, again refusing demands that the roll be called and announced the motion had carried, although there were again many claims from Bush's followers and democrats that it had not. Following adoption of the rules, Bush announced he would "get revenge" on the administration senators when he again resumed the chair.

Consideration of the tax bill was then continued and under the ruling it was considered probably that it would be ready for a vote tonight.

The following amendments were adopted:

Raising pay of township assessors; providing that all real property shall be assessed at sale value; providing for assessment of property oftener than every four years; allowing county assessors who are discharged to appeal to the circuit court; preventing hire of tax ferrets by county commissioners; allowing the secretary and auditor to work with the governor in appointment members of the board; raising salaries of the members of the board to $6,000 yearly and allowing the board to fix the tax levy for the next two years only, through another amendment.

A test vote on the Mendenhall House tax reform bill taken at the night session of the Senate showed a bare margin favoring the administration measure and it was indicated today that unless additional amendments are accepted in the upper branch the bill will be defeated by the Senate.

Fears of an extra session of the state legislature being necessitated unless the tax bill is cleared from the Senate calendar before Saturday

EMPLOYMENT.

The government is making a strenuous attempt to revive manufacturing and construction work so that employment will be provided immediately for returned soldiers and those who are without work as a result of the sudden transition from war to peace. It hopes to aid in making the readjustment period as brief as possible.

A conference at which these problems were discussed was held by many governors and mayors in Washington. Doubtless some good suggestions came as a result of the meeting. But it was emphasized that the problem must be worked out very largely by the different communities. Good business in one community means good business in another. When a contract is given for a building in one city it not only provides labor in that center, but it means additional employment at the points, probably in distant parts of the country, where the materials are made or obtained.

The question of transportation enters largely into the business and construction revival. And it is here that the government itself can help the most. At present the freight rates are the highest in the history of the nation. This is an important factor in building cost. The government could render valuable aid in its own campaign by bringing about a readjustment of transportation rates. The public is ready to do its part. There is a vast amount of work that ought to be done. A little encouragement by the government will make the revival of business possible.

THE CRISIS.

(St. Louis Globe Democrat.)

A grave crisis confronts the nation. Congress has adjourned leaving some of the most important legislation that has come before it unfinished. This includes the general deficiency bill, containing an appropriation of $750,000,000 for railroad administration, the army and navy appropriation bills, the sundry civil bill, and other essential measures. The senate filibuster, led by Senator Sherman, of Illinois, and Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, was concentrated on the railroad bill, the failure of which may cause financial complications unpleasant to contemplate, and the failure of the military bill is likely to create serious difficulties in the administration and demobilization of the army, while the other failures affect important operations of government in several ways. This unhappy result has been brought about by the activities of a few Republicans in the senate, against, we are told, the wishes of Republican leaders in that

Stop Corn Agony
In Four Seconds

Use "Gets-It"—See Corns Peel Off!

The relief that "Gets-It" gives from corn-pains—the way it makes corns and calluses peel off painlessly in one piece—is one of the wonders of the world. The woman in the home, the shopper, the dancer, the foot traveler, the man in the office, the clerk in the store, the worker in the shop, have today, in this great discovery, "Gets-It," the one sure, quick relief from all corn and callus pains—the one sure, painless remover that makes corns come off as easily as you would peel a banana. It takes 2 seconds to apply "Gets-It"; it dries at once. Then walk with painless joy, even with tight shoes. You know your corn will loosen from your toe—peel it off with your fingers. Try it, corn sufferers, and you'll smile.

body; but unquestionably the Republican party will be blamed by its opponents for this failure and all of its consequences. "A group of men in the senate," said President Wilson yesterday, in a public statement, "have deliberately chosen to embarrass the administration of the government; to imperil the financial interests of the railway systems of the country, and to make arbitrary use of powers intended to be employed in the interest of the people."

It cannot be denied that partisan spirit is responsible for the situation in which the country now finds itself, and when that spirit menaces the welfare of the nation, by whomsoever it is exercised, it should be condemned. But is not the president himself in a very large measure answerable for this condition in our political affairs, answerable not only for this but, as we pointed out the other day, for the difficulties that confront the League of Nations? We should excuse no man, Republican or Democrat, who fails to rise above party in the consideration of the policies and measures of great national emergencies, and the record is plain and incontrovertible that President Wilson has been influenced, and often swayed, by party spirit in nearly every act of his administration. In the greatest crisis that ever enveloped the American nation, in which Republicans generally came loyally to his support, he denied the Republican party any material share in the operations of government. In proposing or pressing legislation he never consulted Republican members of congress, nor did he give them any credit, publicly or privately, for the great work they did in the patriotic support of his measures. Human nature is as strong in senators and representatives as in other people, and the president's conduct throughout the war could not fail to accumulate antagonism and resentment that but bided its time.

Last fall the president issued an appeal for a Democratic Congress, an act without real precedent in our history, and offensive to every Republican in the country, as well as to every fair-minded Democrat. The result was the election of a Republican Congress. Yet Mr. Wilson was unaffected by this plain word from the people. He has made no effort to co-operate with Republican leaders in Congress, taken no steps to harmonize their personal differences in the interests of the public welfare. He ignored the senate, Democrats as well as Republicans, in the selection of his Peace Commission, and on his return from Paris defiantly notified the Republicans that he would under no consideration call an extra session of congress, however needed, until it suited his purpose. What but calamity, we ask in all fairness, could come from such a situation and such conduct?

The Globe-Democrat has insisted, and still insists, that the things before us in this greatest crisis of the world's history are too vast to be weighed in the scale with party or personal antagonisms. Yet the fact is that the nation is being sundered, and the tremendous interests of the nations imperiled, by these relatively petty but intensely human considerations. The Republicans are not free from blame, but President Wilson cannot truthfully say that his skirts are clean in this matter.

The Jackson county grand jury which has just completed its session returned twenty-one indictments. More than 150 witnesses were examined by that body which shows that the scope of its investigations was broad. The grand jury is an old institution and while its services are not absolutely needed except in murder cases it fills an important position because of the almost unlimited authority with which it is clothed. Witnesses will readily reveal law violations to the grand jury when they will not discuss them with other officials because they know that the grand jury works in secret and that the testimony given becomes a closed record if the indictment is not returned.

When Directory General McAdoo took over the railroads of the country he was given a $500,000,000 "revolving fund." Director General Hines asked another appropriation of $750,000,000 for his "revolving fund." All of which is evidence to the public that the "revolving funds" of the federal railway administrations revolve rapidly.

There is a man in Bartholomew county who, despite his seventy-eight years, can crack hickory nuts and other hard shelled nuts with his teeth. Better send him over to Washington where he will find plenty of material to work on.

"Mama, It Does Pay to Advertise, Doesn't It?"

ONE day last week a lady in Seymour advertised in the Republican classified ads. for a girl to help part of the day with housework and for a woman to do some sewing.

The next evening she told us that the only mistake she made was that she did not put in a third adv. for a telephone girl to answer the calls that were made in reply to the little classified ads.

Both places were filled before noon the day after the classified ads. appeared in the Republican. At noon when her daughter returned from school she exclaimed, "Well, Mama, it does pay to advertise, doesn't it?"

The steadily growing number of people using Republican classified ads. is the best evidence that people find them quick and sure in meeting their wants.

The carrier boys are delivering in Seymour over 1390, (practically 1400) copies of the Daily Republican in Seymour each evening, besides those going by mail to the rural routes. There are not many homes in Seymour that do not read the Republican, for some copies are read by two families.

Indigestion, Gas and Bloat From Acid-Stomach

SNEAK THIEVES ATTEMPT TO ENTER RESIDENCES

Efforts to Force Window and Doors Indicate That Burglars Are Amateurs at The Work.

Within the last few weeks several reports have been received of attempts of thieves to force windows and doors in residences in several parts of the city.

Reports have been circulated that two families in this city have experienced the mid-night visits of burglars. In neither case did the robbers succeed in entering the house although the families very distinctly heard the attempts that were made. Evidently the men are amateurs at this sort of thing as they did not succeed.

The thieves are using small crow bars on the windows. Their attacks are made on the windows and doors but their efforts appear awkward and their nerve seems to give away before they have reached their objective. Their exploits have not been frequent nor hold enough to necessitate the calling out of the police force. So far they have never succeeded in entering any of the houses they visited.

Much of this work is to be expected now. It constitutes one of the worst phases of a war's aftermath. It is reported that law defying persons are fast becoming a startling element on the streets of the large cities. Even mid-day hold ups are made and plundering activities at night take on spectacular proportion.

What Is The Cause of Headache? Backache?

BY DOCTOR CORNELL

Backache is perhaps the most common ailment from which women suffer. Rarely do you find a woman free from it. Sometimes the cause is obscure but Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., a high medical authority says the cause is very often a form of catarrh that settles in the delicate membranes of the female organs. When these organs are inflamed, the first symptom may be backache, or headache, dizziness, accompanied by bearing-down sensations, weakness, irregularity, painful periods, irritation, and a general run-down condition. Any woman in this condition is to be pitied, but pity does not cure. The trouble calls for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is a separate and distinct medicine for women. It is made of roots and herbs, put up without alcohol or opiate of any kind, for Dr. Pierce uses nothing injurious. In taking Favorite Prescription, it is reassuring to know that it goes straight to the cause of the trouble. There is but one way to overcome sickness, and that is to overcome the cause. That is precisely what Favorite Prescription is intended to do.

HEALTH SERVICE ISSUES NEW RULES

Proprietors of Ice Cream Parlors Must Use Paper Cups and Dishes or Sterilize the Glassware.

STRAWS MUST BE COVERED

All Receptacles Holding Ingredients for Drinks Must be Provided With Secure Covers.

Customers at some of the local soft drink stands and ice cream parlors have noticed that glassware and chinaware have been discarded and that paper cups and dishes have been substituted. Inquiry as to the changed method of service revealed that new regulations have been issued by the United States public health service through the Indiana food administration which require the installation of new systems. Under the instructions issued, the proprietors are required to sterilize the glasses and dishes or use paper cups and dishes which are thrown away after being used one time. Penalties are provided for failure to comply with the new regulations.

Some of the dealers have installed the paper cup and dish system while others have arranged to use electric sterilizers in which the glassware and chinaware will be placed for the required length of time before they are reused. Sterilization of the spoons is also required.

The change is demanded by the health service with the intention of preventing the spread of disease germs. The regulations are mandatory and will be compiled with by all local dealers. The requirements mean additional expense and trouble for the proprietors.

The instructions issued to the proprietors of ice cream parlors are as follows:

1. All persons operating soda fountains and ice cream parlors will conform to the following instructions or be liable to prosecution, and the refusal of Federal and State Sanitary Approval Cards.

2. The fountain must be thoroughly cleaned daily and all containers of syrups, cream or cream and milk products must be thoroughly cleaned and sterilized by boiling water, steam or dry heat sterilization after being used.

3. All glasses, dishes, spoons, and all receptacles and all implements used in serving drinks or foods, must be thoroughly cleaned and rendered free from injurious contamination after each separate use and before being used to serve another customer, in accordance with the following procedure, to wit:

4. All receptacles and implements used in serving drink or food must be thoroughly washed in fresh hot water with soap or some alkaline powder (as baking or washing soda) rinsed in fresh or running water, inverted on draining board to dry or dried and polished with clean towel.

5. After being thoroughly washed in above manner, said implements and receptacles must be treated with live steam, boiling water or dry heat, as follows: If steam is used, implements and receptacles must be placed in a closed container and treated with live steam, under pressure, for at least 15 minutes; if dry heat is used, implements and receptacles must be subjected to a temperature of not less than 212 degrees Fahrenheit for at least 15 minutes. If boiling water is used such implements or receptacles must be submerged in actively boiling water for at least 15 minutes.

6. Paper receptacles may be used, provided they be kept in a sanitary manner, thoroughly protected from dust, dirt, flies and other injurious contaminations, and be used only once.

7. Straws used for drinks may be individual straws wrapped, or loose straws kept in covered receptacle thoroughly protected from dust, dirt, flies and other injurious contamination.

8. Bowls for crushed fruit or other food material must be provided with close fitting covers, kept in place when not in actual use.

All employees or other persons engaged in any way in handling or serving drink or food must furnish a medical certificate as required by the Rules of the State Board of Health.

These instructions become operative at once. Frequent inspections will be made by health authorities.

CHRISTIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL DEFEATS L. S. A. S. QUINTET

Takes Big End of 15-11 Score in Second Game—Boy Scouts Are Victorious.

The Christian Sunday School quintet defeated the L. S. A. S. in a return game at the high school gymnasium last night by the close score of 15-11. A few weeks ago the L. S. A. S. walked away with the Christians taking the game on their own floor 33-13. Both teams played a good clean game.

At the end of the first half the Christians held the small end of a 5-9 score. In the second half, however, they tightened their grip on the L. S. A. S., holding them to but two foul goals while they, themselves, ran up ten points. The excellent work of Julian the entire game and of the Christians the second half were features of the combat.

As a curtain raiser, the second teams of the Boy Scouts and Christians played, the former taking the game 15-8. The first half was very close, the Christians, leading by the small score of 6-5. In the second half, however, the Boy Scouts proved too fast, adding 10 points to their credit and allowing their opponents but 2.

Summary of the games is as follows:

Maxwell
—a car of rare charm and—able

YOUR first impression of this present day Maxwell as it passes you on the street is one of decided beauty.

Your first ride in it, whether at the wheel or in the tonneau, tells you of its rare charm.

But after six months you find a new admiration for the Maxwell. You find it shuns the repair shop, that it runs and runs and never stops running.

Then after a year is past you develop an enthusiasm for it that dictionary words don't seem to fully describe.

And then after you have had it for more than the average life of a motor car and you find it far better than even the Maxwell salesman said it was you search for the reason.

This is what you find:

For 5 years Maxwell cars have been built on the single chassis plan. To date 300,000 have been turned out on this plan. Each car better than the other. Each one better looking than the other.

There have been more than 1000 refinements in the Maxwell, but never once have the Maxwell executives swerved from the original program.

You conclude that reliability was designed "into" the car and built "into" it, and that a policy of 300,000-all-alike is the soundest kind of reason for writing your check for a present day Maxwell.

INDIANA INSIDE TIRE CO. INSTALLING NEW MACHINERY

Building at Corner of Second and Ewing Streets Being Fitted Up For the Business.

The Indiana Inside Tire Company, organized by a number of Seymour men recently with Albert L. Walters as president, has taken over the building at the corner of Second and Ewing streets, for local headquarters. The place is being remodeled to meet the demands of the new business and a full equipment of machinery is being installed with the intention of starting Monday on the first of the jobs previously contracted for in this city. A great amount of work for local car owners has been slated and a large increase over the present amount is expected when the public at large learns that the local concern is the only one of its kind between Indianapolis and Louisville. It will draw business from all over the state and will have two representatives in the field all the time.

Aside from its regular business of repairing and vulcanizing cord tires the company will run skived tires as a special feature. Willard Miller, state representative for the Maxwell skiving company, has sold the concern a skiving machine and will devote much of his time to soliciting business of this kind for the Seymour company.

The management of the business will be placed in the hands of Max H. Ross, Akron, O., an experienced tire builder and vulcanizer who for ten years for a foreman in the repair department of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company at Akron.

The organization of a League at Brownstown was completed at a meeting held Wednesday night. Miss Caddie Shepard was elected president, Mrs. G. S. Gray, vice-president, Mrs. H. H. Prince, secretary and Mrs. Sadie Hamilton, treasurer. When organized the roster of this league contained thirty names but several more names have been added since that time.

Mrs. Koehenour stated that the purpose of the league was not to fight any proposition but simply to teach the women matters concerning the government so they will be able to vote intelligently.

LIMITS REQUEST FOR 3-CENT STAMPS

Postoffice Department Gives Notice of Change of Rates Which Will Come on July 1.

PATRONS ARE INTERESTED

Requests for Three-cent Envelopes
Filled Only When Supply Can be Used up Before That Date.

The Postal Bulletin, a copy of which has been received at the Seymour postoffice, calls attention to the fact that the increased postage rates which became effective October 3, 1917, will be withdrawn July 1, this year, and postmasters are instructed to limit their orders for three-cent stamps and other supplies to the amount that will be needed before the change takes place. After July 1 all postage rates will be the same as during the pre-war days. The department at Washington has informed the postmasters that supplies which were issued to conform with the increased rates must be disposed of before July 1 as there will be no demand for them after that date.

Local firms will be interested in the announcement as some of them have considerably quantities of stamps and three-cent envelopes on hand and desire to get rid of them before next July.

When orders are offered for three-cent special-request stamped envelopes, the postmaster will inform the purchaser that the rate of letter postage will be reduced to two cents per ounce or fraction thereof on July 1, 1919, and will ask whether the supply of three-cent envelopes ordered will probably all be used before that date. If not, the order should be reduced. Every requisition for three-cent envelopes must be plainly indorsed by the postmaster, "These envelopes will be used before July 1st"; otherwise the requisition will be returned to the postmaster.

To be prepared for the reduced rate of letter postage effective July 1st, central accounting and direct accounting postmasters will add two-cent stamps to their requisitions from now on. By doing this the postoffices will have supplied themselves with two-cent stamps by the date on which such stamps are to come back into use for first class mail.

It is the plan of the postoffice department to gather in such stocks of two-cent postal cards, three-cent plain stamped envelopes and three-cent adhesive postage stamps as postmasters deem in excess of the quantity that can be sold before July 1st, and to furnish in exchange postage stock of such denominations as the postmasters indicate their offices will need.

The war postage rates went into effect on October 3, 1917, having been made a part of the war revenue act passed by the congress in 1917. When the return to pre-war postage rates comes, the war rates will have been in effect approximately one year and nine months.

The postoffice department has given notice that a new postage stamp of three-cent denomination, issued to commemorate the successful outcome of the war and designated as the Victory stamp, is now being issued and that it will probably take about three or four weeks to complete the distribution to the entire country. The issue of Victory stamps will not be sufficiently large to take the place of the regular issue of three-cent stamps and postmasters will therefore supply them only to patrons who request them.

The Victory stamp design presents a figure of Liberty Victorious, with a background composed of the flags of the five countries which were most actively engaged in the cause. The figure of Liberty is helmeted, the upper part of the body is in scale armor and a flowing skirt falls to the feet. The right hand grasps a sword the point of which rests on the ground at the feet of the figure; the left arm is partially extended, and the hand holds a balance scale, representing justice.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—One of the most influential persons in Indiana during the biennial session of the General Assembly, now drawing to a close, is little known and seldom heard of beyond the confines of the office of Gov. Goodrich.

John Edwards, of Mitchell, is the power behind the throne in the state capitol building. It is his duty to analyze all measures passed by the legislature which are sent to the governor for his approval. He watches for jokers and riders which may be hidden.

Probably the only measure which escaped his scrutiny was the Bush-McCray bill abolishing the German language from Indiana grade schools. This bill was signed by the governor a few minutes after it had been passed by the house.

were expressed throughout the Senate today. Senator Joseph M. Cravens, of Madison, pleaded with the majority senators to unite for the passage of a tax bill at once in order that the two appropriation bills, which he said "are ten times as important to the state as this tax measure," may be passed before Monday night, when the legislature adjourns sine die.

Lieutenant Governor Bush told the Senate that he would not consent to throttling of any discussion upon the tax bill nor upon the appropriation bills, which were attacked in the form which they passed the House.

The Southard House bill providing for home rule of cities; permitting them to adopt the commission or city manager form of government will probably be smothered in the senate committee on rights and privileges which has also failed to report out the garnishee bill which passed the House.

The House will continue its legislative enactment drive until the closing hours of the session in order to clear up as much business before it as possible, although it has been admitted that it will be impossible to consider all measures before the lower branch before Monday midnight.

At a night session the House passed seven Senate Joint Resolutions providing for amendments to the constitution of the state. They are as follows introduced by Senate English:

Classification of property for taxation; Permit legislature to provide method for selecting clerk of Supreme court; Making all state officers except judges for terms of four years; Permit governor to veto individual items in appropriation bills; Making superintendent of public in-

Hepplewhite Style

Hepplewhite was the first designer to create pieces much departed from the substantial earlier English articles. The day of light and graceful forms and the dominance of the curvilinear in design came with the perfection of Hepplewhite creation. The designs of Hepplewhite are not at all similar to those of his contemporary Chippendale. Louis XVI style and Adam perhaps furnished some ideas to Hepplewhite, but historians differ as to extent.

Substantial framing common in Chippendale, is replaced by slender lightness in Hepplewhite. Painting, japanning and inlay work replaced Chippendale's deep and ornamental carving. It is the combination of elegance and grace, with strength and slender beauty, that characterizes Hepplewhite as the master craftsman which he was. As with Chippendale, the other designer executed in his chairs his most pleasing work.

Legs of Hepplewhite pieces are invariably straight, either round or square, and most generally tapering. Spade feet are most common. Fluting, grooving Prince of Wales feathers, are the most frequently seen decorative features of this style. Backs of chairs, shield-like in shape, are very often to be noted in Hepplewhite articles. Pretty dainty curves are common in this style, the earliest of which this is true. Buyers of Hepplewhite pieces are insured of tasty, refined articles which embrace in a pleasing way, strength and charming dainties.

Training Little Children

Mrs. Isabel S. Wallace.

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by the United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C. and the National Kindergarten Association, 2 West Fortieth Street, New York.

Country Mothers Can Teach at First Hand the Lessons That the Seasons Bring—A Garden, Pets, Books, Pictures and Phonographic Music All Have Educational Value and Are Easily Obtained.

I have thought a great deal about what I might say if I could talk with mothers who live far away from any center of population, and this fact stands out most clearly in my mind: The remarkable opportunities a mother in the country has to teach her children at first hand what the seasons bring.

Let them have a garden of their own, in which to grow very simple flowers and vegetables that are hardy and easily grown.

Let them have pets to take care of. This will teach kindness and service for those dependent upon them.

Every child should have daily duties, and if you begin early and make play of these tasks, most children will love to do them, and feel the importance of being a real help in the home. It seems to me that the three largest factors all through life are self-control, independence and obedience, and we cannot begin too early in any child's life to teach these virtues.

Another thing the far-away mother may obtain for her child is books. Develop early a fondness for books in your children, and a great battle is won. All children love fairy tales, nature stories and poetry such as Grimm's and Anderson's Fairy Tales. Wise selections of the best of these "time-tested stories" are now published by many publishing houses. Some of the Grimm stories are too gruesome to tell to children. Kipling's "Just So Stories," and poems by Robert Louis Stevenson, Eugene Field, James Whitecomb Riley and Jessie Wilcox Smith are all excellent for children to know.

Six years of age is not too early to begin to build a library for a child, and the books should be in his own room, where they can be easily reached and become constant companions. The books my daughter enjoyed most at the age of seven were:

In Story Land, Elizabeth Harrison.
Kindergarten Story Book, Jane Hoxie.
Pinocchio, C. Collodi.
Tale of Peter Rabbit, Beatrix Potter.
Tale of Tom Kitten, Beatrix Potter.
Seem-So's, L. J. Bridgman.
Story of Noah's Ark, E. B. Smith.
Pied Piper of Hamelin, Robert Browning.
Little Lame Prince, Dinah M. Mulock.
Among the Farm-Yard People, Clara D. Pierson.
Among the Night People, Clara D. Pierson.
Among the Meadow People, Clara D. Pierson.
Among the Pond People, Clara D. Pierson.
Among the Forest People, Clara D. Pierson.
Poems of Stevenson.
Poems of Field.
Poems of Riley.
Poems of Jessie Wilcox Smith.
The Hollow Tree and Deep Woods Book, Albert Biglow Paine.
The Hollow Tree Snowed in Book, Albert Biglow Paine.
The Book of Clever Beasts, M. Reed.

Two other subjects loom up in my mind for the far-away mother, and they are music and pictures.

The phonograph as an educational factor has tremendous value. Through this means the children can become familiar with all that is best in music, either vocal or instrumental; they can learn not only the music but about the composers, and the great men and women who sing and play various instruments.

A child's taste in pictures can be cultivated by having in his room pictures which are good both as to color and subject. Pictures dealing with Nature in any form are always attractive to a child and if they are hung in the room so that the child can easily study them and even handle them if he wants to, this adds much to his enjoyment.

There are many books and picture firms that are only too glad to send catalogues upon request. The far-away mother can obtain anything of this kind she may want by mail, and if besides a garden and pets, a child can have books, music and pictures, it seems there is real education of the right kind going on.

Please pass this article on to a friend and thus help Uncle Sam reach all the mothers of the country.

COSTUMES

Most engaging green costumes may be made for the ladies for 25 cents each. Double a fold of crepe paper in the middle; cut a square or round hole for the head to go through, and paste a harp cut from yellow crepe paper on the front. Make green carnations for the men from green crepe paper.

INVITATIONS

At the top of the notepaper on which you write the invitations, paste a little flower pot with shamrocks growing in it. You can easily cut a flower pot shaped piece of brown paper; or you can find a pattern in an advertisement or a flower catalogue. Cut the wee shamrocks from the green crepe paper and paste them on. Write the invitation below.

DECORATIONS

Besides lots of green plants, evergreens, and so forth, here is a charming decoration; stretch light blue crepe paper across half a barrel hoop, across the other half stretch light green paper and paste the paper around the hoop securely. Paste a two inch border of Irish green crepe paper all around the edge. Cut an Irish castle from brown crepe paper and paste it over to the right, with the bottom of the castle on the green crepe paper, which represents the lawn, and the top against the blue, which represents the sky. From crepe paper cut out groups of Irish girls and an Irish boy and paste them in the foreground of the picture.

GAMES

A potato race and a shamrock race would be fun. Give a prize such as a McCormack record, an Irish song, a book of Irish poetry, a dish of potato salad, a pipe. For the potato race give the prize to the one who runs first a race from the dining-room to the sitting-room and back, or some similar place, with a baked potato in a big spoon, and does not drop it. For the shamrock race cut shamrocks and hide them. Give a prize to the one who finds the most shamrocks in a given time.

Woman's Franchise League of Indiana

Peru, Indiana—The interest of suffragists throughout the state is centered in the meeting of the nominating committee for the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana, which has been called for Tuesday, March 4, at the Claypool Hotel, Indianapolis.

With the granting of presidential suffrage to women citizens in Indiana, the need for civic classes to train women in the right use of the ballot, the certain passage of the federal suffrage amendment in the Sixty-sixth Congress and the resultant plans for Indiana's ratification, much of the complete success of suffrage in Indiana will depend upon the officers chosen at the state convention of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana in Indianapolis, April 1-3. Due to the unusual importance of the next year in the history of suffrage, members of the nominating committee feel that it is essential that the right leaders be chosen for the suffrage organization of the state. There is great uncertainty as to the probable candidates for the presidency. At this time, no names have been suggested for the office.

The status of suffrage in Indiana, including the meaning of presidential suffrage, the dates of primaries and elections, and an explanation of the system of presidential electors, is the theme of discussion for the county and district conventions of branch organizations of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana, which are being held during the month of March.

The granting of presidential suffrage to women citizens in Indiana has aroused the interest of women throughout the state in national and civic problems and has added a powerful incentive in the struggle for full suffrage. Nowhere is this interest being shown more clearly than in the eagerness and enthusiasm with which counties and districts are preparing for their conventions during the month of March in preparation for the state convention, April 1-3.

Members of the Committees from this district are as follows:

Resolutions—Mrs. H. S. Espey, Rising Sun.

Literature and Information—Mrs. Luella Bilby, Osgood.

Credentials—Mrs. Wm. Green, Rising Sun.

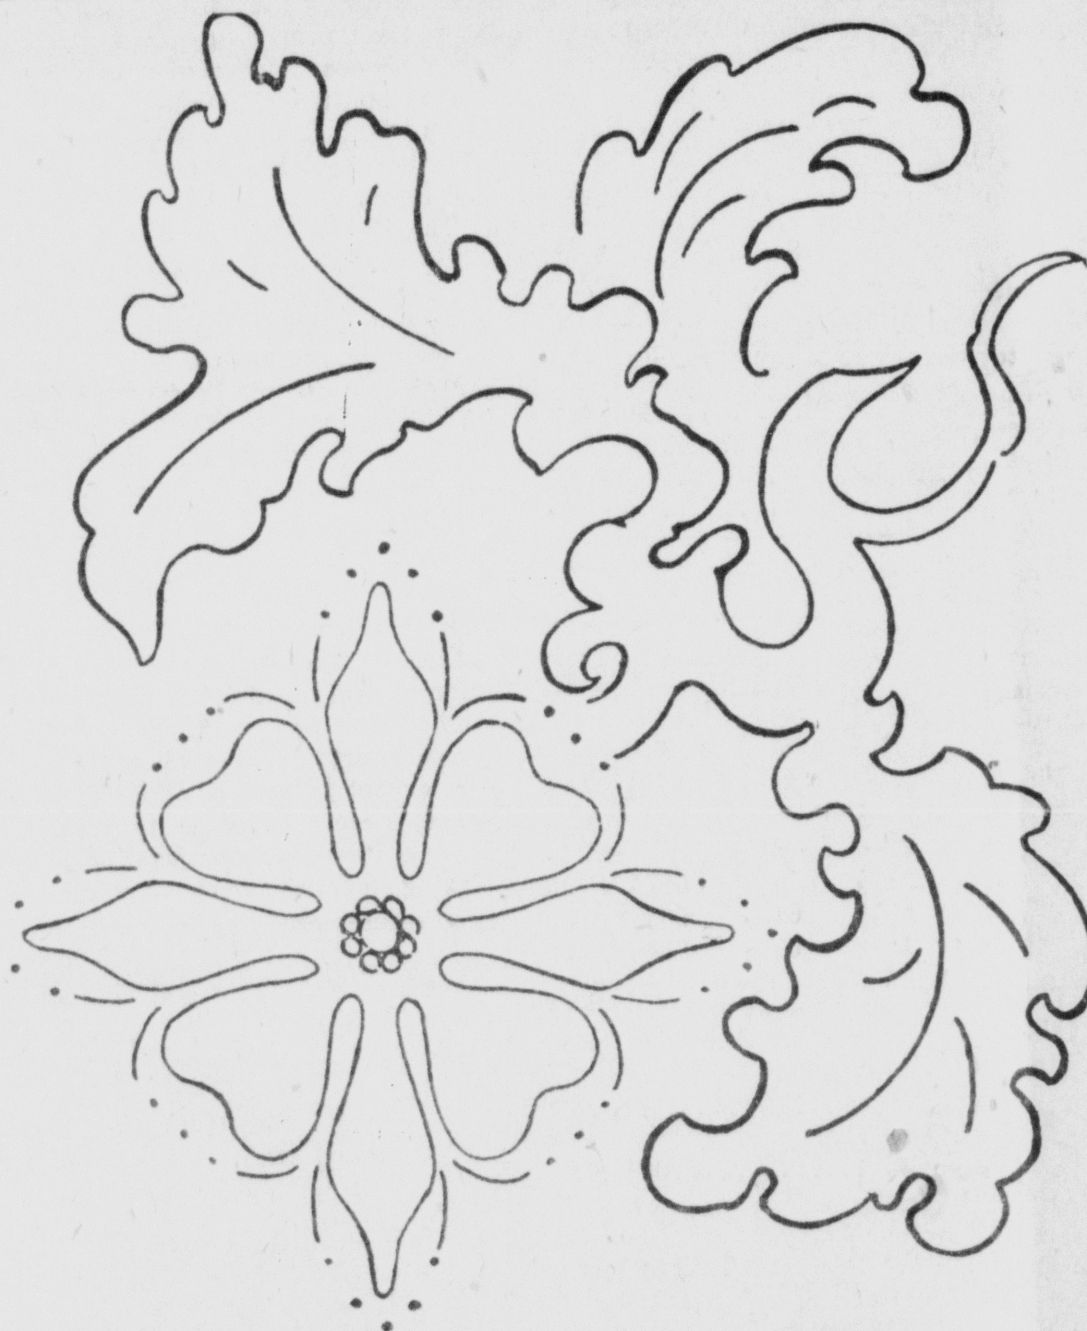

Nominating Committee—Mrs. D. A. Koehenour, Brownstown.

Election Board—Miss Edna M. Hall, Azalia; Mrs. A. E. Stark, Aurora; Mrs. Adolph Schulz, Nashville; Mrs. Bruce Wheatcraft, Whiteland; Mrs. Sadie Green, Rising Sun; Mrs. W. A. Beer, Milan.

Steaming Garments at Home

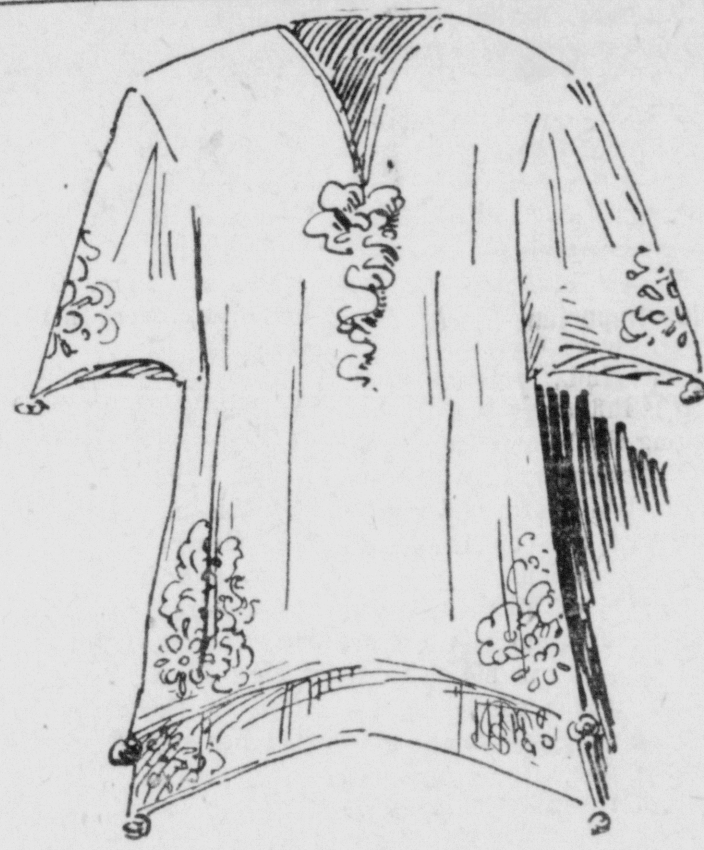

The problem of removing wrinkles from clothing which cannot be pressed to advantage, is a perplexing one to many women, when they shake out their crushed garments of cloth, velvet and corduroy. Quite a simple solution to this difficulty has been found by one woman who always hangs these articles on coat hangers, suspends them over the bath tub, either on the shower rack, if there is one, or on an improvised line strong enough to hold considerable weight. She then fills the tub almost full of the hottest water she can obtain,—boiling, if possible,—shuts the windows and doors tightly and allows the garments to remain undisturbed in the steam bath for several hours. Gradually the steam, rising from the water, permeates every part of the materials, restores the pile to its original surface, and relaxes the fibers of the cloth until all the wrinkles have disappeared. Many garments may be further improved by a thorough brushing, immediately after the steaming process, in order to remove the dust which has accumulated deep into the nap of the material. Where the garments require even longer steaming, it is a good plan to arrange them the last thing at night, so that they will receive the benefit of the additional time thus allowed. It is important that the heat be kept well sealed in the room, by seeing to it that the windows and doors are tightly shut.

ART NEEDLEWORK By EDITH M. OWEN

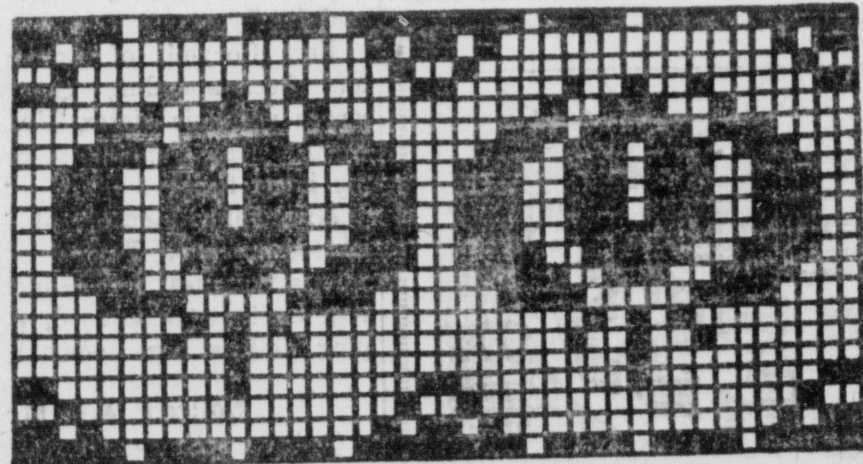

Collar Bag

Ecru linen used with this block pattern of filet lace in ecru crochet cotton No. 50 makes an attractive collar bag. Ribbon of bright color is placed back of the insertion, then stiff cardboard 3 1/2 inches wide and long enough to reach around. The bag is then lined and opening drawn together with cords and tassels.

Breakfast Jacket

The design for the breakfast jacket is embroidered with the fluffy cotton yarn crunched on with white embroidery cotton. The flower petals are of light rose and the leaf forms of deep rose. The centers and dots are beads or French knots. The breakfast cap to match this dainty jacket will be in a following issue.

The School Luncheon

The basket lunch for child or grownup is harder to prepare than the meal served at home as there are many foods that do not carry well or must be served hot. This limits the choice and extra care must be taken to make the basket luncheon attractive as well as satisfying.

By the use of waxed or paraffin paper moist foods may be carried, which formerly had to be omitted. Paper cups and small glasses are a great help, as custards, canned fruits and jellies and jams as well as other semi-solid foods may be carried.

Corn bread in times past was never served cold yet it toasts well and is good as a sandwich bread. The filling of any sandwich should be moist enough to make it palatable.

A common fault with most mothers is putting too much into the basket. If the child attends school where a hot soup or hot drink is served daily the luncheon will be packed with that consideration. The day is not far away when the hot dish will be a part of every school lunch.

A baked apple or pear is always a good luncheon dish. They may be baked or served uncooked.

In packing the lunch basket put the things the least likely to crush in the bottom and always have tucked in an out of the way corner a bit of candy, a cube or two of sugar or a fig or a few dates; such surprises delight the heart of a child.

Paper napkins are inexpensive and should be supplied so that the child may use one to spread over his desk.

Here are a few sandwich fillings: Peanut butter mixed with a little salad dressing or milk and chopped olives.

One-half cupful of dates, one-fourth cupful of nutmeats, ground and mixed, moistened with salad dressing or cream.

Honey mixed with chopped pecans or any local nut. Honey with cream or cottage cheese is another good filling.

One-fourth of a cupful of orange marmalade with two tablespoonfuls of chopped nuts. Or any jelly or jam makes a good filling.

Kitchen Curtains

The very prettiest way of curtaining the kitchen window is by using the double-sash curtains. Dutch curtains, they are called. Make the two pairs of crisp muslin, or soft voile or cheese-cloth as preferred, and sew down the sides and across the bottom a band of plain color to match the kitchen color scheme. These bands may be from two to four inches wide. The bottom curtains are usually kept closed, but the upper ones are always open to allow sunlight and air to come in and the bit of color at the edges seems to be just what so many kitchens need to brighten them up.

CHAPTER X.

A Desert Dinner.

Innes Hardin was completing her simple toilet. Not even to please Gerty would she "dress up" for the dinner. It would have been easy for her sister-in-law to postpone it. How could she expect Tom to go through with it! She couldn't understand Gerty!

An hour ago, hearing distinctly the whir and splash of egg-beating, she had run over to the neighboring tent. The clinking of the cake tins had suddenly silenced. "Excuse me, won't you?" Gerty's voice had come from the lean-to, the little kitchen shed. "I'm lying down."

"Lying, yes!" grimaced the Hardin mouth to its reflection in the mirror. How many times that week had she been repulsed by a locked door, a sudden curtain of silence or a "Run away for a while. I'm trying to catch a nap." Easy now to see why Gerty had wanted to "hold the reins" that week!

She didn't need to pierce those canvas walls to know that there had been feverish activity for this dinner. A new gown would appear tonight, made secretly. An exquisite meal, and no one must comment on its elaboration. Twice Tom and she had been asked to take their lunch at the hotel. "Because of a headache!" A headache!

Tom's wife could not even shop openly! Bundles had always the air of mystery, never opened before Tom or herself. She must have yards of stuff laid away, kept for sudden emergencies.

"She can't help it. It's her disposition. She can't help being secretive. Look at your face, Innes Hardin!" What was it to her, the pettiness of a woman whom an accident of life had swept upon the beach beside her? Gerty was not her kind, not the sort she would pick out for a friend. She was an oriental, one of the harem women, whose business it is in life to please one man, to keep his home soft, his comforts ready, keep him convinced, moreover, that it is the desire of his life to support her. Herself dissatisfied, often rebellious, staying by him for self-interest, not for love—ah, that was her impeachment. "Not loving!"

Soberly she covered her plain brassiere with a white waist of cotton ducking. A red leather belt and crimson tie she added self-consciously. "Where is my bloodstone pin?"

Hadn't she spent an hour at least matching that particular leather belt? But he was a man, in battle. The headgate held up; it was too bad. Silent, Bodefeldt, Wooster, Grant, all of them fighting mad because of the deadlock at the heading. All up in arms, at last, against Marshall, because of this cruel cut to their hero, Hardin. Her eyes glowed like yellow lamps as she recalled their fervid partisanship.

"Only one man who can save the valley, and that's Tom Hardin." Wooster had said that; but they all believed it. The loyalty of the force made her ashamed of her soft woman fears. For there were times when she questioned her brother's ability. He had a large, loose way of handling things. He was too optimistic. But those men, those engineers must know. It was probably the man's way of sweeping ahead, ignoring detail. The verdict of those field-tried men told her that the other, the careful, planning way, was the office method. Rickard, as a dinner neighbor, she had found interesting; but for great undertakings a man who would let a Gerty Holmes jilt him, ruin his life for him! The whole story sprang at last clear from the dropped innuendos.

She adjusted a barrette in her smoothly brushed hair. Slowly she walked over to the neighboring tent. Gerty frowned at the white duck.

Gerty frowned at the white duck.

Gerty Frowned at the White Duck.

"You might at least have worn your blue!"

"You're elegant enough for the two of us. Isn't that something new?"

Gerty said carelessly that she had had it for a long time. For she had had the material a long time! It wasn't necessary to explain to her husband's sister that it had been made up that week. She hoped that she didn't look "fussed up." Would Mr. Rickard think she was attaching any importance to the simple little visit? For it was nothing to him, of course. A man of his standing, whom the great Tod Marshall ranked so high, probably lined out several times each week, with white-capped maids and candelabra! If Tom had only made the most of his opportunities. What a gamble, life to a woman!

She made a trip into her bedroom and took a reassuring survey in her mirror. The lingerie frock would look simple to a man who would never suspect it of hand-made duplicity. Her glass declared the hand-whipped medallions casual and elegant. And a long time ago, a lifetime ago, Rickard had told her that she always should wear blue, because of her eyes.

Innes from the next room could hear Gerty teasing Tom to wear his Tuxedo.

"Isn't one dude enough for you?" growled her surly lord. Innes recognized the mood and shrank from the ordeal ahead. It was the mood of the Hardin in the rough, the son of his frontier mother, the fruit of old Jasper Gingg, whose smithy had been the rendezvous for the wildest roughs, the fiercest cattlemen in Missouri.

"I'd let him see you knew what's what, even if we do live like glories."

The answer to that was another growl. Innes could hear him dragging out the process, grumbling over each detail. That confounded laundry had torn his shirt. He hadn't a decent collar to his name. Where was his black string tie? If Gerty would keep his things in the lowest drawer! Hang that button! Gerty emerged from the encounter, her face very red. Innes could see her biting her lips to keep the tears back as she put the last touches to the table.

"She's tired out," thought the sister of Tom Hardin. "She's probably fussed herself to death over this dinner."

A few minutes later Rickard arrived in a sack suit of tweeds. Gerty's greeting was a little abstracted. How could she make Innes understand to tell Tom to change his coat? The duty of a host, she suddenly remembered, was to dress down rather than up to the chances of his guest. She regretted bitterly her insistence. Was ever anyone so obtuse as Innes? Mr. Rickard would see that they thought it a big event. She was watching the curtain where Tom would emerge. And his coat was a style of several seasons ago and absurdly tight! She made an unintelligible excuse and darted behind the portiere.

CONSIDER THIS WOMAN'S CASE

Mrs. A. L. DeVine of Los Angeles, Cal., says: "After I had suffered from a female trouble for years, not being able to do my housework, or get any relief from doctors, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I want to tell the world the good this medicine does." This woman is perfectly justified, and should be commended for telling others how she regained her health.

Senator Lodge favor a world organization upon some basis which will make impossible European interference with the Monroe doctrine, American commercial interests and American sovereignty. Most of them think such a league can be formed. They are willing to accept the present constitution, as the basis for its organization. What they insist on is modification of that constitution to meet objections, they point out.

They will emphasize to the country in the next few weeks this one point, many of them said today:

President Wilson is trying to force on the United States his league of nations. We favor a peace league but it is our right to point out and your duty to study the dangers that lurk in the proposal as submitted.

There is no disposition to attack President Wilson, except by pointing out that he, while inviting discussion, stated just before going back to France that the constitution did not need amendment.

The whole campaign is to be backed, Republicans say, on the points outlined with these additional ones:

That sponsors of the proposed league have no more authority for declaring the league will not interfere with the Monroe doctrine and American rights than its opponents have for asserting it will interfere.

That President Wilson said there was a reason for every provision, but in this two speeches in this country and his talk with congressmen, did not reveal one of the reasons.

That the proposed league will fail because it tries to do more than the world is ready for now.

That Europe is counting on America bearing the burden financially, militarily and economically of making the league a success.

In addition to Borah, Senators Reed, Lodge, Knox, Cummins, Poinsett, Sherman and Kenyon have partially mapped out speaking tours. Reed, a democrat, is not among the 37, nor is Kenyon, a Republican. Others of the 37 have received invitations to speak and will take some part in the country-wide debate.

Buy a Good Mule Or Horse For the Farm

Here's an opportunity that won't come again—unless there is another world war.

A superior lot of Government mules and horses will be sold at the Kentucky State Fair grounds, in Louisville, Ky., on Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8, for cash or certified check to the highest bidder. Sale commences at 9 o'clock a. m.

The war is over and the Government has no further use for these animals. They are sound, fat and in excellent condition, just the kind of horses and mules Uncle Sam uses. Every animal has been worked within the last two months.

HOW WEAK, NERVOUS WOMEN QUICKLY GAIN VIGOROUS HEALTH AND STRONG NERVES 7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

A Vigorous, Healthy Body, Sparkling Eyes and Health-Colored Cheeks Come in Two Weeks, Says Discoverer of Bio-feren.

World's Grandest Health Builder
Costs Nothing Unless It Gives to Women the Buoyant Health They Long For.

It is safe to say that right here in this big city are tens of thousands of weak, nervous, run-down, depressed women who in two weeks' time could make themselves so healthy, so attractive and so keen-minded that they would compel the admiration of all their friends.

The vital health building elements that these despondent women lack are all plentifully supplied in Bio-feren.

If you are ambitious, crave success in life, want to have a healthy, vigorous body, clear skin and eyes that show no dullness, make up your mind to get a package of Bio-feren right away.

It costs but little and you can get an original package at any druggist anywhere.

Take two tablets after each meal and one at bedtime—seven a day for seven days—then one after meals till all are gone. Then if you don't feel twice as good, look twice as attractive and feel twice as strong as before you started your money is waiting for you. It belongs to you, for the discoverer of Bio-feren doesn't want one penny of it unless it fulfills all claims.

Note to Physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feren. It is printed on every package. Here it is: Lecithin; Calcium Glycero-phosphate; Iron Peptonate; Manganese Peptonate; Ext. Nux Vomica; Powd. Ben-tan; Phenolphthalein; Oleoresin Capsicum; Kolo.

The time has come when we all must study the actual food value of a dollar and we also must become acquainted with the nutritive value of every ounce of food we buy.
The modern housewife is an assayer of food. She knows now how to get all of the food units from her provision purchases. Soups have come into favor again and the vegetable camouflage dishes that suggest meat flavors.

That Headache of Yours

You may have tried a hundred remedies without relief— but have you ever had your eyes examined?
A large majority of headaches are caused by the eyes. And nothing in the world will stop them but the wearing of the right glasses.
That stops them almost at once, and keeps them stopped. Better have us test your eyes some day.
We can tell you by a thorough examination whether your headaches come from your eyes or not.
